

Online Financial Platform

COMPANY PRESENTATION

ResearchPool is a British company that operates an online aggregation platform for financial research and markets commentary across a wide range of European and international markets. ResearchPool offers paid reports as well as free reports from a wide range of research providers, ranging from independent vendors to brokers. ResearchPool's ambition is to become the first open market across Europe offering direct access to financial market research and market commentary.

SERVICE OFFERING

OPEN ACCESS

ResearchPool's open and user-friendly research marketplace allows you to download and analyze information faster. Improved research allows you to focus on the points of view that affect you.

ONE-STOP-SHOP

Download free reports regarding the main categories of financial assets: stocks, credit, commodities, real estate, money markets, currencies, multiple assets and alternatives.

FLEXIBLE PAYMENT OPTIONS

In light of the unbundling of the research market under MiFID II, ResearchPool offers flexible payment options. Pay for reports by unit or by subscription. Whatever method is chosen, price transparency allows for more efficient budgeting.

A PLATFORM FOR BOTH INVESTORS & PROVIDERS

ResearchPool's open and user-friendly research market allows you to download and analyze information faster. Improved search capabilities allow you to focus on the themes that concern you directly.
